THE BENEFITS OF

LASER HAIR REMOVAL

Getting rid of unwanted hair no longer means risking nicks from a sharp razor or painful bumps from a wax strip. Laser hair removal is a more pleasant alternative that's exploded in popularity over the last decade. Here are some reasons to consider this procedure.

MORE PRECISE

It's easy to leave behind patches of hair when shaving or waxing. Laser hair removal can more precisely target hard-to-reach areas and delicate spots, like the armpits, bikini line and upper lip.

LESS EXPENSIVE LONG-TERM

Laser hair removal typically costs a few hundred dollars up front, but once you've completed treatment, you won't need to spend money on shaving or waxing supplies, which can add up to thousands of dollars over decades.[2]

LONG-LASTING RESULTS

While not necessarily a permanent solution, most people only need four to six laser therapy sessions to remove most of their hair.[1] Any hair that remains or regenerates will be lighter in color and texture, so it'll be less noticeable.

TREATMENT SPEED

Hair removal sessions last 45 minutes or less – adding up to 4.5 hours for six treatments, compared to 67 hours spent shaving and nearly seven hours waxing per year.[3]

COMFORTABLE TREATMENT

Unlike shaving and waxing, which can irritate your skin, laser hair removal is a more comfortable procedure. Numbing lotions and ice packs can limit any pain you may feel.
